It was a bright morning day. I got out of my bed and got in the shower and started to get ready. I head to school, I get into the car and we start driving to school. I get dropped off at my little sister's school and I start walking to school and text bre or vanessa to see if they are at school yet. I meet up with one of my friends and we walk into school and go to the bathroom. Me and Bre see Mae and everybody and all just get ready like it's a normal day. After me and bre and steph say bye to everyone we come walk to the 9th grade hallways and that's where we see Elijah and Samson we all start talking and we start having a good conversation. After saying bye to each other and we get to class me and steph go together. Bre, Samson and Elijah walk together like any other when we get to class we sit down and put our stuff down.

I'm sitting in class and I ask to go to the bathroom. They say yes so get up and go while walking. I see someone I know and I say hi. I get to the bathroom and I see that in one of the stalls there's something shining. I start getting curious so I get closer and closer. I get close enough to where I can open the stall and see that there's a portale. I get closer and it sucks me in, I start yelling for help and I land on this hard ground "ow." I get up and notice that I have random supplies on me. I look up and see that I'm in Mexico but it's not 2024 Mexico. It looks like I went back in time. I look around and everyone is wearing old style clothing as I look down and I see that I also have the same style. I started looking for my phone to see what time I'm in and I realized that I don't have one. I start to walk and everyone is saying hi to each other. I keep on looking around and start noticing I'm in the 1520s. While I'm walking I see people singing and dancing and I see people snapping. I start snapping and when I snap I go back to 2024.

When I'm back at school, I walk into the bathroom. I snap again and I go back to Mexico and that's when I realize each time I snap I go back in time and that's how I switch from each time. I start jumping from joy. I walk back to class and I start telling Steph all about it when I tell her everything she tells me "bru ur trippin on some cus how can that happen? "

" I don't know how it can happen but it happened to me" I say. Class is over so I got up and I packed my things to go to my next class. I saw Bre Elijah, Vanessa and Samson. "You guys won't believe what just happened to me" I say. They all ask " what?" I explain to them "I just came back from Mexico and I was like in the 1520s. I haven't really gone to explore it but I know it was the 1520s because everyone was wearing old clothing and everything looked old."

"There's no way I don't believe you bro you're actually trippin on some." they say. " No bro I'm being fr. Look, next time I go I'll bring something back and I'll show you guys and maybe one of you guys can come with me and you'll see that I'm being deadass." I tell them. We start talking about something else and we realize we have to go back to class so we dab each other up and we go to class. Me and Steph go together and Vanessa, Elijah, Bre and Samson go together to their class. I get to class and sit down as I get out my notebook and I start copying off the board. After I'm done copying off the board I ask the teacher to use the bathroom and they say "yes" I go to the bathroom and to get water I go back I sit down and I put my head down.

I wake up and I realize I'm back in time again. I noticed this time I had a bag with me and in it was food, water, a blanket, and clothes. This time I wonder if I was going to be here for a while. I looked around and this time I saw this battle happening.. There were people fighting each other on horseback and on the ground. People were fighting with knives and swords. There were bodies parts flying everywhere and it was dark and windy. All you could hear were the voices of people fighting each other. I started wondering why they were fighting each other and how it all started. I snap my fingers and I wake up back in my classroom. I get my computer out of my backpack and I start researching what happened in Mexico 1520's. I started reading and apparently Mexicans called June 30, 1520s La Noches Triste/The sad night and it had happened because the Spanish conquistador Hernán Cortés and his forces attempted to escape from the Aztec capital, Tenochtitlán, under the cover of darkness. The bell rang and it was time for lunch. I quickly get my things and go to lunch. I rushed to go get food so I could eat later. Once I come back on school campus I quickly find a space to sleep. I woke up and I'm back in Mexico. I hid behind something and I started watching the fight that was going on at that moment. I kept researching about La Noche Triste I learned that this fight was very important to the Spanish I wanted to know more about and on why it was important to them I went back to Mexico to see if I can get any information from someone from there time when I got there I saw this lady I went up to her and I was trying to ask her what was really going on but I was also not trying to seem like I wasn't from this time. She noticed that I wasn't from here and she began on telling me that I don't have much time here before I stay here forever I started questioning her and wondering if what she was telling me was true I asked how she knew that and she began to tell me how that happened to her and how after she got more deep into it the less time she had. I went back to school and I started thinking about if I should keep learning about it but I was also thinking about what she had said to me I asked Bre for her opinion and on what I should do and "No you should stop reading about it and if that lady told you it happened to her then you should listen and not go back" Bre said. "Yeah your right I don't wanna get stuck over there I went about my day and I never went back but I was still curious on what happened and if I would survive. I went to class and I started doing my work, I realized that my life had gotten back to normal and I was happy to be back."
